CHICAGO — Chicago police have confirmed an officer accidentally shot himself in the leg during an interview with a suspect in the fatal shooting of a police officer Thursday afternoon. The incident happened around 2:43 p.m. in the area of 132nd and Union, off the 1300 block of W. 132nd Street, Chicago police said. The officer was interviewing a person of interest in the police-involved shooting of Officer Carlos Rosa, according to police. The officer was walking back towards the police SUV when his weapon accidentally fired, hitting him in the leg, police said. He was taken to Advocate Illinois Masonic Medical Center in stable condition, a Chicago police source told FOX
