It runs and works but when I click the start button the screen just remains black and the default windows program never starts and the command window stays. I've tried running it as an administrator and I've tried renaming the file and the program never starts regardless of what I do. I've tried the code below but it does not work. : Trouble in Goblin Town Ancient Red Mounds, Virginia 04:53 PM It's a working day at the Ancient Red Mounds archeological dig in Prince William County, VA, and Dr. Don Gaffney is out working with two assistants. As he walks about digging up the dirt that is what remains of a workshop used by the Gaffney brothers, a Danish teen and his father, as a kid in the 1940's to study the Amerindian tribe living there, the natives kind of reason a change in the weather by digging a hole in the large green mound in the middle of the archeological site. Gaffney is finding the weather elements of the earth, but not one structured as the physical elements of a person. This is one of the elements of the trance that the boy is experiencing. As the boy is digging his hole Dr. Gaffney asks the boy in the trance, in Dutch, "What are you doing?" "I'm picking away at the earth. If I pick too fast, pieces of dirt will fall in and break off, and if I work slow, too much will fall in." "That's good," Gaffney remarks, "slow and steady is always better than fast and sloppy." Don Gaffney then has the boy give a translation of what he is seeing to the two assistants, and they begin to excavate the piece of "earth" the boy has pointed out to Gaffney. When Don asks them what they found, they both say they are not sure because they haven't done their full work yet, but when they find more they are going to be able to tell. Almost three hours later the dug is completed as the boy and father leave the excavation site to a gas station to get a fill up of gas. As they leave the gas station, the boy hears his father say, "Soon I will see what I know about the boy, son." Back at the dig, as Gaffney grabs more dirt, he feels the earth moving. He goes to the boy and asks him how he was feeling after the experience, and the young boy relays in Dutch, "The ground was moving. I was not able to tell if it was in a circle or in a line." "Did you tell your father that?" "No, but the feeling is stronger now." In the distance, the boy sees the outline of a

- Modded Edition Survival SP5 for PCDuring the next year at Chico State, I hope to learn about various aspects of the German language. I also plan to add a few songs to my repertoire and maybe write a short story. Recently, I have been getting excited about learning the popular music of my generation. Some local bands include Venoma, Bitches of Distinction, The New Movement, The Hoosier Mafia, Dead Kids, Out of Here, Screwball, and Oddfellows as well as Death to False Leaders. Most of these bands are new to the music scene. Hopefully, the Chico art gallery will open during the semester, and I can go in to check out some Mauercrater and Picasso drawings. (The Mauercrater is pretty different for the family in California.) One of my pet projects is a handmade contribution to the Save the Trees Campaign. I am revising some of the embroidery projects for the Save the Trees stamps. Who knows when I will have the down time to complete some of my own?
