It was developed by the Jewish mysticism of the Hebrew Kabbalah. Kabbalah is the esoteric part of the religion that is used by the Jews and the Christians. The Kabbalah has also a large influence on the Jewish American culture, especially on the American visual arts, in the understanding of nature and the cosmos. The Kabbalah meditation is intended to bring about mystical union. Although its origins are purely spiritual, and some of its teachings about the nature of God are shared with other religions and orthodox theologies, the later spiritual elements were not accepted by the Jewish religious leadership.
